

Engage Your Employees

The Three Signs of a Miserable Job Manager Training

Create a fulfilled and engaged workforce by bringing the concepts from Patrick Lencioni's New York Times best-selling book to your organization.

With staff levels the leanest they have ever been, job satisfaction at its lowest level in years and employees stressed with overwhelming workloads, addressing employee engagement and commitment has never been more important.

management training session

In this ½-Day session, managers will receive the tools and guidance needed to transform their workforce. Specifically, participants will:

- Better understand the fundamental requirements for job fulfillment
- Assess their own management style
- Learn how to foster commitment, productivity and positive morale with employees
- Create a specific immediate action plan to address engagement on their teams

train-the-trainer workshop

For those organizations that desire to roll-out the program throughout their organization using their own facilitators, The Table Group can conduct a comprehensive, interactive train-the-trainer workshop.

Client Comments

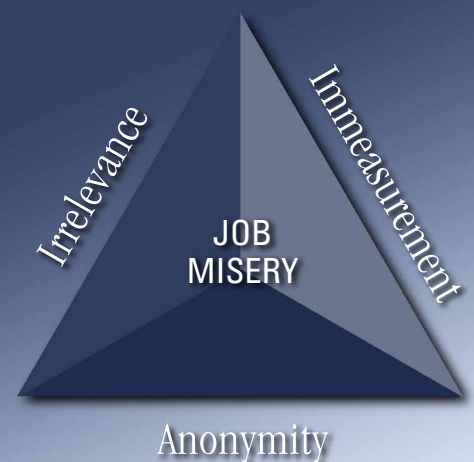

“Applying these concepts has been transformative for our leaders and it's become so valuable, our managers can't afford not to do it. Its impact on engagement and, over time, the customer experience has been immeasurable.”

Andy Lorenzen,
Human Resources, Chick-fil-A, Inc.

“The Table Group's approach to training managers is refreshing. In just a few hours, managers were able to walk away with very practical tools to immediately apply in engaging their employees.”

Ann Murtlow,
President, Indianapolis Power & Light
